HIGHLIGHTS

Wide-Ranging Expertise
Wilson Sonsini's real estate team regularly advises on domestic and international facility leasing, acquisition, development, construction, financing, and on all aspects of environmental compliance, due diligence, investigations, and remediations.

OVERVIEW

Wilson Sonsini's real estate attorneys advise and represent clients in connection with real estate transactions and facility issues for all of their office, commercial, and manufacturing needs. With particular expertise in complex commercial and biotech transactions, our team regularly advises on domestic and international facility leasing, acquisition, development, construction, and financing, as well as on all aspects of environmental compliance, due diligence, investigations, and remediations.

Wilson Sonsini's real estate practice also focuses on advising renewable energy clients with respect to project acquisition and development, in addition to representing borrowers and lenders in renewable energy project financings. Our real estate team offers clients timely, efficient, and practical solutions for their real estate and environmental legal issues.
