EXPERIENCE

Randy Lewis is a partner at Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati. His practice focuses on the representation of technology and growth companies at all stages of their development, from seed-stage start-ups to mature public companies across industry sectors, but with an emphasis on the energy, infrastructure, internet services, internet infrastructure, consumer products, and sustainability sectors.

Randy co-founded the firm's energy and climate solutions practice and continues to co-lead the firm's practice. He is a frequent speaker at prominent industry events at venues including Los Alamos National Laboratory, MIT, National Laboratory of the Rockies, UC Berkeley, UCLA, and University of Chicago.

Randy is a sought-after advisor to companies and regularly advises executive teams and boards of directors on a wide range of matters, including corporate governance responsibilities, securities law compliance, and intellectual property and trade secret matters. In addition, Randy frequently advises entrepreneurs and executives at all stages on complex financing and strategic corporate transactions, including joint ventures and mergers and acquisitions.

Prior to his legal career, Randy held finance positions at GE Capital and Wells Fargo Bank.

Randy also serves on the boards of directors of the Wilson Sonsini Foundation, a philanthropic vehicle that supports charitable organizations and causes, and Venturewell, a nonprofit organization that provides innovators with support, training, and access to networks and resources to solve the world's most difficult problems.
