EXPERIENCE

Ben Labow is a partner in the San Francisco office of Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati, where he is a member of the firm's antitrust practice. Ben advises clients on the full range of antitrust issues that arise throughout the M&A process, from risk-shifting provisions in transaction agreements to engagement with the antitrust agencies. Ben is also known for providing practical advice to clients on their business strategies, including pricing and distribution policies, partnership agreements, and licensing agreements. He has extensive experience representing clients in connection with antitrust investigations conducted by the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ), the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), state attorneys general, the European Commission, and other antitrust agencies.

Prior to joining the firm, Ben worked as a trial attorney in the DOJ's Antitrust Division, and as a Deputy Attorney General in the Antitrust Section of the California Attorney General's Office. While in government service, he worked on a number of notable litigated merger cases, including United States v. AT&T, Inc. (D.D.C. 2011), United States v. Oracle Corp. (N.D. Cal. 2004), and United States v. First Data Corp. (D.D.C. 2003).
