EXPERIENCE

Courtney Matteson is an associate in the Palo Alto office of Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati, where she advises public and private technology companies at all stages of growth and the firms that invest in them. Her practice focuses on corporate and securities law, including general corporate representation, venture capital financings, mergers and acquisitions, and public offerings.

During law school, Courtney was a law clerk for the corporate group in the firm's Washington, D.C., office, where she assisted in the representation of emerging companies, including with regards to formation and corporate governance issues, venture capital financings and mergers and acquisitions. As a student at Georgetown University Law Center, she was the President of the Corporate & Financial Law Organization and worked as a Research Assistant and Teaching Assistant for the Georgetown Center on Privacy and Technology.
