EXPERIENCE

Jose Campos is a partner in Wilson Sonsini's London office, where he focuses on advising U.S. and European technology start-ups and scale-ups through all stages of their U.S. life cycle, including incorporation, venture capital financings, mergers and acquisitions, and other strategic transactions. He also supports investors that invest in technology companies. He is well-versed in assisting non-U.S. technology companies with their U.S. expansion plans and "flipping" into U.S. holding companies. Jose's broad and varied experience gives him unique insight into advising technology companies on their growth and expansion plans.

Jose started his legal career in Silicon Valley, where he worked at a global law firm before moving to London in 2015 to join a U.S.-headquartered law firm. He also has worked with the legal team of a prominent accounting firm.

Prior to attending law school, Jose worked as an analyst at a private wealth advisory firm.
