EXPERIENCE

Dr. Zackory Burns is an associate in the Boston office of Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati, where he is a member of the technology transactions practice.

Zack advises international and domestic private and public biopharmaceutical and life sciences companies in various transactions related to the discovery, research, development and commercialization of their products. He specializes in working with clients in strategic transactions from very complex strategic alliances and collaborations to a wide range of other transactions, including license, discovery, research, development, manufacture, supply, and services agreements.

Prior to joining the firm, Zack was the lead attorney at Moderna advising its discovery and research teams. Prior to joining Moderna, Zack was an associate at two other law firms that are internationally recognized for their life science work. Before attending law school, Zack completed a post-doctoral Hellman Fellowship in Science and Technology Policy at the American Academy of Arts & Sciences and undertook scientific research on five continents.
