EXPERIENCE

Emma Wilcox is an associate in the employee benefits and compensation practice at Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati. She supports private and public technology and life sciences companies with a wide range of compensation and benefits matters, including the design, drafting, and administration of equity compensation programs and the associated tax and securities law considerations. She also advises clients on executive compensation programs such as employment, bonus, severance, change in control, and retention agreements.

Emma is active in the firm's transactional practice, representing sellers and buyers on the compensation-related aspects of mergers and acquisitions.
