

WILSON
SONSINI

Communications and Networking

HIGHLIGHTS

Representing the Leaders Then and Now

Wilson Sonsini represented communications and networking pioneers, and continues to work with leaders in the industry today.

OVERVIEW

Wilson Sonsini routinely counsels communications and networking companies focused on advancing and improving the interaction between individuals, computers, and other technologies.

Our communications and networking clients are engaged in all aspects of the industry, including wireline and wireless voice and data, broadband, video, and satellite communications. Our clients' business activities involve the manufacturing and marketing of computer networking equipment; the expansion of underlying networking technologies such as communications-specific semiconductors and optical switches; the deployment of networking systems; and the development of wireless equipment, software, and services.