

Andrew Bryant

SENIOR COUNSEL

Tax
Seattle

abryant@wsgr.com
206-883-2595

FOCUS AREAS

Energy and Climate
Solutions
Life Sciences
Project Finance and Tax
Equity
Tax

HIGHLIGHTS

- Broad Transactional and Tax Planning Practice
Andrew advises public and private companies regarding federal income tax planning for a variety of business transactions, including entity formations, initial public offerings, financings and restructurings, equity offerings, and mergers and acquisitions.

EXPERIENCE

Andrew Bryant is senior counsel in the Seattle office of Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati, where his practice focuses on federal partnership and corporate taxation matters related to technology and life sciences companies. He has significant experience in advising public and private companies regarding tax matters in mergers and acquisitions, emerging company formation and planning, equity and debt financings, initial public offerings, and corporate restructurings. More recently, Andrew has devoted a significant portion of his practice to tax issues related to renewable energy and project development and tax equity financings.

Prior to joining the firm in 2007, Andrew was a tax associate at Stoel Rives in Seattle.

CREDENTIALS

Education

- LL.M., Taxation, University of San Diego School of Law, 2004
Cum Laude, Graduate Law Merit Scholar
- J.D., University of Washington School of Law, 2002
Articles Editor, Washington Law Review; Low-Income Taxpayer Clinic
- B.A., English, University of Washington, 1992

Associations and Memberships

- Member, Section of Taxation, American Bar Association
- Member, Taxation Section, Washington State Bar Association
- Member, WSBA Transactional Tax Committee; Chair (2012-2014)
- Member, Seattle Tax Group; Chair (2010-2011)
- Board Member, Windermere Corporation (2014-2017)

Admissions

- State Bar of California
- State Bar of Washington
- U.S. District Court for the Southern District of California
- U.S. Tax Court