EXPERIENCE

Taylor Stenberg Erb is an associate in the New York office of Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati, where she is a member of the firm's data, privacy, and cybersecurity practice.

During law school, Taylor served as a Legal Fellow with the LawTech Center of the University of Virginia School of Law, a research assistant to Professor Danielle K. Citron, and an articles editor on the Virginia Journal of Law & Technology. She also interned with Regeneron Pharmaceuticals' Data Privacy Office, where she researched relevant privacy issues and assisted on various privacy compliance matters.

Prior to law school, Taylor worked with start-up companies as a paralegal at Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe and as a consultant at Y Combinator.
